⁶ Depending on the (technical) specifications of the Customer's request, Isabel will classify the Customer's request as standard or non-standard intervention. An intervention will be classified as standard when, for example, the Customer simply cannot install Isabel 6 on its PC due to a conflicting software. An intervention will be classified as non-standard when, for example, it concerns an intervention regarding Isabel Corporate Synchronizer (ICS).

⁷ Isabel has the discretionary right to accept the request of the Customer or not, but will not unreasonably refuse the request. If the request is accepted, the delivered work will be invoiced to the Customer, based on a calculation to be provided upfront by Isabel N.V./S.A.
